WHITTON EXECUTIVE SERIES

MOLLY GRANTHAM

Emmy Winner, Author and National Speaker

Molly Grantham has been named "TV News Reporter of the Year" and juggles life with humor and poise, bringing clever wit to diverse crowds. She delivers hundreds of keynotes and has interviewed over 15,000 people in her 25-years of television news.

Molly left her journalism career when at the top of her game—the #1-rated anchor in a top 20 American media market, doing 20 live shows a week—to reinvent and motivate audiences across the country to "Bet On Yourself."

She is adept at speaking live to 100,000 people a night, sitting beside Hollywood celebrities, NFL stars, and throughout her career worked at ABC, NBC, and CBS affiliates. She appeared on CNN, Today Show, CBS News, the CBS Morning Show, and in Huffington Post and People Magazine. Her social media is its own channel, with more than 200,000 combined followers. In late 2024, she founded the "Bet On Yourself Summit," a soul-filling experience to help women uncover power in themselves. It made history as the first women's event inside the Carolina Panthers NFL stadium.

Her three books are a popular series described as "raw and relatable" about not losing yourself while loving your career and raising children. She and her husband, Wes, have three children under the age of 14.

In her next life, Molly says she wants to be a mermaid.
